

CHARM SCHOOL SCHEDULED FOR COLLEGE COEDS

Prominent Women To Give Talks On Poise; Style Show Planned

QUARTET TO PLAY

A "charm school" for the women of the University is being planned from Tuesday to Friday, March 17-20, by the Women's Athletic Association, announced Miss Ruth Diamond, athletic instructor, Monday.

Lectures on cosmetology, table etiquette, and poise will be given the first three days by prominent women in those fields. Friday, March 20, a style show will be presented in Jacobs' Hall during the assembly period.

All students, including the men, may attend the style show, Miss Diamond stated. The admission will be 10 cents.

Music during the four-day school will be provided by a string quartet composed of Betty Fellman, '36, Beth Campbell, '39, Lillian Anderson, '38, and Frances Johnson, '38.

Amy Rohacek, chairman of the program committee, announced that Bess Greer, '37, assistant in the dramatic department, would explain the technique of make-up to "charm school" students.

The program committee includes Amy Rohacek, chairman, Jane Cook, '39, Betty Fuller, '39, Lillian Damask, '37, and Betty Arnold, '39.

Spring Season To Open With Greek Dances This Week

Kappa Psi Delta sorority will hold their dance at the Chermot ballroom this evening. One hundred bids have been issued. Frances Dilger and Ardith Hudson are in charge of the plans.

Bobby Bowman's orchestra will provide music.

Alpha Gamma Chi sorority will hold their dance at the Paxton Hotel ballroom tomorrow evening. The committee in charge of arrangements comprises Sylvia and Esther Silverman, Betty Fellman, and Janet Graetz.

There have been 200 bids issued to the affair, at which the College Club orchestra will play.

Repertoire Class Presents Recitals

The Repertoire class will present its first recital of 1936, Tuesday, March 10, at 8 p. m., in the University auditorium.

The students partaking in the program are enrolled in the dramatic department of the University.

Several musical numbers will be furnished by Omaha University students. The recital is to be free of charge and all students as well as their friends are invited.

Student Sculptures

Carol Wigton, '38, art student enrolled in the new course of Painting, Sculpturing, and Architecture, now offered at the University, has completed a bust of Ethel Jane Scanlon, faculty assistant in the Foreign Language department.

The clay model has been molded and cast and is ready for exhibition. All of the work has been done during the past two weeks.

This is the first piece of sculpturing which Miss Wigton, who is the only student enrolled in the course, has done.

The sculpturing, under the direction of Herschel Elarth, faculty assistant in the Art department, has been done in the studio in the basement of the Men's faculty building.

Heckman, Bernays Confer in New York

Dayton E. Heckman, professor of government, was called recently to New York City to act as a consultant to Edward L. Bernays, public relations expert.

Much of Mr. Heckman's time was spent in writing a survey of public attitudes in conjunction with a project which Mr. Bernays is engaged upon at the present time.

Mr. Heckman was qualified for this work as a result of the research in which he has been engaged for academic purposes.

APPLICATIONS BY MARCH 14

All students who are planning to take a degree or a certificate in June or in August must make application at the Registrar's office by Saturday, March 14.

GERMAN STUDENTS SPONSOR CONTEST EARLY IN APRIL

Local Declamatory Meet To Be Held On Municipal Campus

PRIZES OFFERED

The German Club of the University is sponsoring a declamatory contest in co-operation with the National Federation of German Societies. The contest, which is open to all high school students interested in the study of German, is to be held early in April in the Joslyn Hall auditorium.

The exact date of the contest has not been definitely set. Its purpose is to stimulate an interest in the German language and the literature of that race.

The declamatory contest has been divided into two divisions, prose and poetry, with two prizes given by the National Federation of German Societies in each division. The prizes are to be announced later.

Original contributions are invited, as well as excerpts from German poems, ballads, or passages of prose. Selections from periodicals, newspapers, or books may also be used.

Miss June Erickson, '36, secretary of the University German Club, has issued invitations to all of the high schools and parochial schools in the vicinity of Omaha.

Among those Omaha high schools which have accepted invitations to take part in the contest are Central, Northh, Benson, South, Technical High and Creighton Prep. Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Saint Francis High of Council Bluffs have also signified their intention to enter.

University Women and Men Evaluate the Opposite Sex

By George Knipprath

Something seems to be wrong on the University campus. The men don't like the women; the women don't like the men. A recent "survey" brings these results.

WHAT THE MEN SAY

John Kozak: I like them all, because they remind me of my mother.

George Threadgill: The girls here don't know whether they are coming or going. You can call them two-timers.

Troy Woerner: The women out here are similar to some of the institution's policies. They get worse every year. You would think that they would soon reach rock bottom. Anything that could happen to them would be an improvement. Not being inclined to be seen in such company I carry on my dating campaigns elsewhere.

Bob Lehmer: If my opinion was quoted I'd never get another date from any of them.

Don Bolau: Half of them are too studious for me, and the other half are sort of tetchy in the head. Personally the tetchy ones are better.

Don Peterson: I think they are very independent and conceited. Outside of that, I think they're a pretty nice bunch. They're like a one-horse shay, years behind time.

WHAT THE WOMEN SAY

Minnette Myers: Most of the male students of this University wear a cloak of conceit, which hinders their intelligence and manners.

Eileen Christiansen, an alumna: Childishness expresses it better than any word I can think of. Also, fickleness.

Carol and Ruth Wigton, two petite sisters: Most of them are just a bunch of non-points with nothing behind the eyes. But there are a few well-chosen ones. They seem afraid that they're going to do something for somebody. A few—well!

Marge Noe: One-half of them attempt to be Joe College—and fail. One-half of them attempt to be mental giants—and fail. But even such twirls are likeable.

Fran Fore: They are incorrigible gossips. Too much Joe College spirit and lack of good manners.

Mary Alice Nelson: Too conceited, but this requires deep thought and I refuse to be quoted. Ruth Hall: Most of them are too bashful, and if not too bashful, they are so conceited that you can't stand them.

Greek Gossiping

Why all the secrecy about the Pan-Hel dance, anyhow? Nygaard says he's in charge of the affair, but that nothing should be said about the plans as yet.

Don't say we told you, but the Phi Deltas have another pledge—Evelyn Betterton.

The Alpha Gamma Chi and Kappa Psi Delta dances are tonight and tomorrow night—just in case you haven't made preparations.

A great success, so we hear, was the Gamma Sig's supper at the Women's faculty last Monday. (The pledges walked out on the dishes.)

English Fraternity Initiates Members

Twelve new members were initiated at the meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, Tuesday. Florence Power, Kathryn Phillips, Ellen Hartman, Beth Campbell, Don Reisser, Eola Lieben, James Petersen, Elaine Robertson, Marion Benson, Irma Shepard, Kenneth Scholes, and Bernice Perlmuter are the initiates. Irene Rankin, president of the organization, was in charge of the service. Guests of honor were Dean Rene Stevens, Mrs. A. M. Johnson, and Mrs. Robert Auercher.

Mildred Morrison Gearhart reviewed "Old Jules."

Debate Teams To State Meet

Two debate teams will represent the University in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Forensic Association tournament at Hastings, Thursday to Saturday, March 12-14.

The teams will debate whether Congress should be given the power to override the Supreme Court's decisions or not.

The debaters representing Omaha University in the contest are: Lucille Hulbert, '38, and Fannie Witkin, '38, women's team; Macy Baum, '38, and Hyman Finklestein, '38, men's team.

Bernice Perlmuter, '36, will represent the school in the women's extemporaneous division.

Chemistry Expert Talks to Assembly

His topic was the "The Application of Chemistry to Industry."

The arrangements for the assembly were made by the Chemistry club, of which Bill Holland, '38, is president.

EDUCATORS CONVENE

President Rowland Haynes, Dr. O. L. Taylor, Dr. W. H. Thompson, Mrs. Nell Gillard and Dean Rene Stevens attended the St. Louis Convention of the American Council of Guidance and Personnel Associations, February 17 to 22.

PROBE REVEALS LARGE SUPPLY OF DEAD STOCK

Bookstore Committee Studies Inventory; Harris Astonished

SEE PRICE CUT

The bookstore investigating committee, through its chairman, Professor Harry Severson, told The Gateway Thursday that a ten per cent reduction in all book prices might be effected next year.

"We believe that with careful watching a ten per cent reduction in books could be effected next year," said Professor Severson.

The inventory for the University bookstore, presented to the committee at an open meeting Monday, was the basis for this belief, he said.

The inventory revealed that of the $10,000 inventory, figured at selling price, one-third of the total stock was in Art supplies. The art department has now nineteen students enrolled in courses.

Jewelry valued at $612.75, included among other things a compact whose selling value was listed at $4.50.

The bookstore also has on hand $77.70 worth of Foreign Language dictionaries.

Dr. Harris Amazed

"I was dumbfounded at the tremendous amount of dead stock which has accumulated and must be disposed of," stated Dr. Lyman Harris, also a member of the committee.

Seven Entries To Debate Tolerance Of Greek Societies

Seven entries for the intra-mural debate tournament have been turned in to Prof. Dayton E. Heckman. Two fraternities and five sororities have signified their intentions of debating on the subject: Resolved That, Sororities and Fraternities Should Not be Permitted on the Campus Unless They Have Permanent Quarters.

The following have entered: Alpha Sigma Lambda, Robert Hadfield and Keith Maxwell; Theta Phi Delta, Wade Knapp, Irvin Vaughn, John Moucka and Lewis Leigh; Kappa Psi Delta, Theda Anthes, Marjorie Williams, Mary Jane Cooper and Mable Knipprath; Phi Delta Psi, Ruth Hall, Mary Patrice Schaaf, Carol Wigton and Ruth Wigton.

The Barbs will also have a team, but the members have not been selected. The single-elimination tournament will be held soon.

Charles E. Hudson, father of Ardith Hudson, '38, addressed the International Relations club on communistic trends in the United States, Wednesday evening in the women's faculty building.

A PERMANENT BOOKSTORE COMMITTEE

The results shown so far by the bookstore investigating committee are promising. The report to President Haynes has not been made as yet, but the open meetings have revealed at least one important fact, and that is that a permanent committee should be established to relieve Bursar Crenshaw of work which he should not be required to do.

The Gateway suggests that this permanent organization should resemble the Board of Student Publications in form and power. The members, preferably three faculty members and two elected students, should have complete control and select the bookstore help, and a student manager.

A scholarship for the student manager and a small percentage of the profits to those who would assist him would provide them with an incentive for operating the bookstore at a profit. Each year this residue would revert to a bookstore fund, and would be used the next year to reduce prices or insure the maintenance of low prices.

From the interest displayed by the present committee, it would seem only natural that they should be selected as a permanent Board of Student Supplies, and an election could be held each year.

If a ten per cent reduction in book prices can be effected next semester, as Mr. Severson, committee chairman, believes, and a permanent set-up is provided to force prices to the lowest level possible, The Gateway urges the entire student body to make use of the facilities which the bookstore provides.

When each article purchased reduces future prices, the students of the University will be vitally interested.

A BOUQUET TO MISS DIAMOND

Congratulations seem to be in order for the very enjoyable Leap Year Hop sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association last Friday. Last Friday's dance was one of the most enjoyable affairs that have been sponsored by a school organization for some time.

For some time there has been a rule against stag lines at Omaha University dances. In many cases the objections as such, have been well-founded. The most often used argument being that "the boys in the stag line misbehave." Maybe it's true but it would improve matters to give it a trial. The girls in the stag line last week added much to the dance and none of them misbehaved very badly.

There has always been a sad lack of spirit at the University, but a few more activities, as well planned and carried out as this dance, will do much to establish a real college spirit here.

Thru The Keyhole

Well, the Vice-Versa provided a little news at last....Since then we hear that Minnie and Bill Wood are seeing more of each other....Not to mention Tommy and Cooper....Corrington broke down and down and took Phillips....But we hear that they are not getting along as well since....Baum, Moucka and Johnk wore corsages of lilies....They were lucky....Pity the poor guys that had to wear those vegetables....We thought that Clark was going steady....But she showed up with Maloney.

Who are these two gals from Tech that Stracka and Mangan insist on taking to Pic. Petes?...Our old friend, Peterson, was there with Gloe....We hear that Ryan and Max were having about as good a time as anyone else there....There must have been a reason.

B. Anderson refuses to comment on Johnson and the news we ran last week....Is Lehmer winning out in this deal with Elinor Johnson?...We don't think Elinor thinks so....We hear that Vogel got a new roadster....Did everyone know?...Who is this guy from Blair that Ed Nell keeps haunting all the time?...We hear that Moucka has hung his pin for good....Spring romances—M. Hudson, Rushlau.

All the news that's news to youse: Speaking of NYA—A student graduating from high school with high honors is earning his tuition through manual labor, while several others not so intelligent are mismanaging office work....Hughes claims he never makes this column because he never does anything....Tsk, Tsk. What an exciting life he must lead....Certain of the college widows should make up their minds and quit playing the field....Politeness keeps us from calling it two-timing....Bunions to the students who try to worm out contributions so that they can indulge in a bit of backstabbing....The gals are the worst offenders....Has anyone noticed the resemblance between Pearey and Nelson Eddy?

According to Professor Rathburn, Stanford, "A lecture is the process by which the notes of the professor become the notes of the students, without passing through the heads of either"...From Dean Hendren, University of Missouri, we learn that "Fathers send their sons to college either because they went to college or because they didn't"...Someone, I think it was Mencken, classified college men as follows: (1) Casanovas, (2) fullbacks, (3) poker players, (4) beer drinkers, (5) pitchers and catchers, (6) scholars....Very apt!

Note found in Uni. Cafe: "I have a yen for poetry, but I must keep my eyes on Boyce, as he is reading a poem on Nativity, so farewell, my yen, and rejoice"...The Student Council thinks that we are too stupid to select an efficient Maie Day Committee....Seeing as how we elected the present Council, perhaps they are right!

ON THE MAGAZINE RACK

By LLOYD L. LEE

A Penny a Word—American Mercury
(Anonymous)

The American Mercury for March contains an extremely interesting article written by a bitter and resigned pulp writer who refuses to disclose his name. He says that he is only one of a great host of writers and editors who have not developed "craftsmanship, atmosphere, and sociological significance" or any of the lofty generalities of good literature. This writer thought that the pulp-paper magazines would be just a stepping-stone and a means of earning some money while serving his literary apprenticeship. But, just as a drug addict is ensnared with the narcotic habit, this writer was forced into learning a certain formula and "banging out" a story in a few hours' notice. The element of the population which reads Street and Smith, Fawcett, Macfadden, and other cheap publications with love, romance, western, war, detective, and mystery plots, are regarded as morons.

The demand on these pulp writers are exacting, for they must always follow the whims of the public. And when a writer has to "bang out" the average of twenty novels a year, or four stories a month, it becomes monotonous. The remuneration is low, and it is almost impossible to rise out of this style of writing.

This article is worth the perusal of advanced composition students, for they can profit from the mistakes of this disillusioned hack author, who thought he could train himself in self-expression by writing for the cheaper magazines.

TO A LADY STUDYING CHAUCER

I think Chaucer is much over-rated,
Since he wasn't even educated,
But used a gibberish most foreign.
If he had used decent English in his tales
You wouldn't be chewing at your nails
And wearing a look so forlorn.

It's In The Cards

By LEO PEAREY

There's many ways of ditching a date, but "Blimp" Blount really "takes the cake." He called his girl and told her that he had been in an accident, had suffered two broken legs and was in the hospital, therefore being unable to see her. The gal, Maxine Randall, in a fit of weeping, called all the hospitals in town without finding any trace of Mr. Blount, so she called Crenshaw, the Bursar, for help. It was news to him, but he in turn called the parents, who live at Auburn. They also were in the dark, so the police were called. The dashing Romeo was finally found working at his accustomed station at a lunch stand. Only his vanity suffered because she hadn't believed in him. P. S.—It also cost him one dollar to call home and ease the old folks.

The pick of the inter-frat tourney—Forwards; Hargrove, Belau, Ryan and Rundlett; Centers: Kurtz and White; Guards: Loder, Riggins, Turner and Haynie. Plenty of potential varsity material here providing the above mentioned would only get over their stage fright and get the habit of working together as a unit.

Imagine Willie Kulper as a very vicious cannibal, with a grass skirt, rings in his ears and nose, n'everything, passing judgment on his victims by waving a spear and yelling ompa, ompa! Anyway that was the story he told to First-down the other evening to frighten her into going to bed. The pooch just snickered and countered with a bow-wow, leaving Kulper sort of disgusted and shame-faced. He just can't win.

Athletes, like aviators, are very superstitious beings. Harold Johnk, for example, ties his left sock around his neck every cold night before going to bed. He says this keeps him from getting a sore throat. It ought to. If he breathes through his nose he's as good as dead, and if he breathes through his mouth, he snores so profoundly the germ is frightened away.

Speaking of being frightened, I wonder how Bob Frink felt walking all the way from Mashek's house on 52nd street to the Flats the other morning about five by the milkman's watch? Or how Johnny Donlon felt when Stringer got him mixed up with Bolte at about the same hour on another evening? But Tyler doesn't seem to be afraid of large and "spiffy" autos, especially when Lohman, Doyer or a certain cutie from Tech High drives up. There's a man!

THETA PHI DELTA TOURNEY CHAMPS

Alpha Sigs Defeated by the Champions in Fourth Straight Win

When the final whistle blew, last Wednesday in Jacobs' Hall, it was the signal ending the 1936 Intra-mural basketball tourney. The score card showed the Thetas with 19 points to the Alpha Sigs' 12. This, though one of the slowest games, was the fourth straight win for the Thetas and the victory gave them the championship.

The Phi Sigs gained a tie for third place by topping the Mohawks, 22 to 13, on Tuesday. The Ramblers have also won two and lost two. The contest was rough and full of action. The closing whistle checked the Mohawks' late rally.

War was declared last Monday when the Indians nosed out the Ramblers, 19 to 16. This win cinched second place for the red-men, with three wins and one loss. This was a great floor game for both teams were on the floor most of the time.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Thetas	4	0	1.000
Indians	3	1	.750
Phi Sig	2	2	.500
Ramblers	2	2	.500
Mohawks	1	3	.250
Alpha Sigs	0	4	.000

Belau, Rundlett High-Score Men

Don Belau, forward for the champ Theta five, won the Intra-mural individual scoring honors with 34 points. Lowell Rundlett, a guard for the second-place Indians, was a close second, bagging 33 points.

The ten highest scorers in the tourney:

Belau (Thetas)	34
Rundlett (Indians)	33
Riggins (Ramblers)	26
Hargrove (Alpha Sig)	26
Ryan (Thetas)	21
White (Mohawks)	20
Venzeano (Phi Sigs)	17
Turner (Ramblers)	17
Olson (Indians)	16
Loder (Thetas)	15
Rogers (Indians)	14

Yearlings Seize Tourney Crown; Defeat Seniors

Led by Captain Don Gardner, the Yearlings took possession of the Interclass tourney by nipping the Seniors 38 to 32 and nosing out the Juniors 19 to 15. The Frosh have played together all season.

Spring Practice Starts Monday

If the weather permits, Coaches Hartman and Baker will call the first spring football drill for Monday, March 9.

The session will last for six weeks, finishing before track practice starts. A squad of about fifty candidates are expected to report this spring.

Among those missing for next fall are Leo Pearey, Noel King, Howard Sorensen, Lorren Gammon, Bill Nelson and Ken Turner. There will be a plenty of reserve material on hand to fill up the gaps, but these seniors will be badly missed.

Most of the drills will consist of fundamentals and speedy foot work. About six regulation games will be played between teams chosen from the candidates. Plenty of action will be expected when the teams clash this spring.

A LIGHT SMOKE OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

All kinds of people choose Luckies, each for reasons of his own. But everyone agrees that Luckies are A Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco. It is a rather surprising fact that the leaves of the same tobacco plant may vary far more than the leaves from plants of quite different types. Chemical analysis shows that the top leaves contain excess alkalies which tend to give a harsh, alkaline taste. The bottom leaves tend to acidity in the smoke. It is only the center leaves which approach in nature the most palatable, acid-alkaline balance. In Lucky Strike Cigarettes, the center leaves are used.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

"The irrational buying has accumulated a large dead inventory," emphatically stated John Moucka, senior president, "but the introduction of small, fast-selling articles might take over part of the over-head."
